HIGHLIGHTS

Non-traditional students

Non-traditional students (mothers, displaced workers, older adults, and breadwinners) make up about half the 1988 student enrollment in Minnesota's community colleges. But, according to the chancellor of Minnesota's community colleges, these students do not receive enough financial and program assistance.

Speaking to the Education Division of the Appropriations Committee Feb. 25, Chancellor Gerald Christensen criticized the state's message to these students.

"In this state, we almost force people to make a choice," he said. "Our policies tell them to either go on welfare and you'll be taken care of. Or, if you try to make it out there, don't expect much help."

Currently, says Christensen, tuition for Minnesota's community colleges costs nearly twice as much as the national average. Funding per student for Minnesota's community schools ranks in the bottom third. Twice as many students as the system expected have enrolled in Minnesota's community colleges for 1987-88.

"We're facing serious problems," Christensen says.

He asked the committee for an additional $16.3 million to help meet the needs of the state's community college students.

State mandates

When the Legislature or state agencies mandate local units of government to carry out programs or rules, they would have to supply the funds for them if HF518 (Simoneau, DFL-Fridley) becomes law. The Local and Urban Affairs Committee recommended HF518 to pass Feb. 25.

The bill would set up a system for the state to reimburse local units of government for carrying out program or financial mandates. Local governments would report mandate costs to the newly created division of state and local

Every state has official symbols which unite citizens and make them feel proud. And Minnesota, widely known for the state pride of its people, also has a common unofficial symbol: the state license plate.

Minnesota plates display the words "10,000 lakes." Yet, in 1975, state officials tried to remove the familiar slogan. They said it cluttered the plates and made the numbers hard for police officers to read. Minnesotans were not happy with the decision. State officials got over 700 angry phone calls with messages like: "You can't do that! We like our license plates! We're proud of our 10,000 lakes!" Today, the slogan, "10,000 lakes" travels with all Minnesotans.

For a complete list of Minnesota's official state symbols, see "Do You Know?" on the last page.

mandates. After receiving a cost report, the division would determine the local financial effect of the state mandate or agency rule and submit a report to the commissioner of finance for review and payment.

Local governments would not get reimbursement for every state mandate. HF518 would make exceptions for laws that impose a mandate to hold an election or to notify or conduct a public meeting.

In addition to setting up a reimbursement system, HF518 would require all agency rules or bills the Legislature introduces after Dec. 31, 1988 that impose a program or financial mandate to state mandate goals and expectations, outline how local governments should carry out the mandate, and include information on its effectiveness. It would also require the division of state and local mandates to review state mandates and rules every five years to determine financial impacts.

The bill goes next to the Governmental Operations Committee.

Higher education bills

About 200 university students, from as far as Duluth, lobbied in support of two education bills at the Higher Education Committee meeting on Feb. 24.

The proposals were: HF2146 (Kinkel, DFL-Park Rapids), a bill that would give student council members of the Higher Education Coordinating Board voting privileges; and HF1989 (Trimble, DFL-St. Paul), a bill that would create a task force to study child care needs in higher education.

To show their commitment to form the child care task force, representatives from student associations made an offer that would save the state money. They agreed to pay mileage, gas, and incidental expenses the student task force member would incur while traveling to meetings.

Students represented five organizations: Minnesota State University Student Association, Community College Student Association, University Student Senate-University of Minnesota, Vocational Technological Student Association, and the Duluth Technical Institute.

The committee recommended both bills to pass as amended. HF2146 now goes to the Appropriations Committee; HF1989 goes to the full House.

College students from around the state show their support for two education bills.

Workers' compensation

By 1990, all state employers would have to buy workers' compensation insurance from the State Fund Mutual Insurance Company under HF2061 (Begich, DFL-Eveleth).

The Legislature set up the state fund in 1984 to compete with private insurance companies. According to Rep. Joe Begich, the fund currently takes in about $40 million in premiums a year, but would grow to 20 times that size with all the business private companies and self-insurers handle.

"The state fund could provide lower rates to all businesses, especially small businesses that have not had work-related injuries in recent years," Begich says.

Opponents of the bill say a monopoly state fund won't cut workers' compensation costs; instead, it would increase them. But Dan Gustafson, president of AFL-CIO and supporter of the bill, says moving to a state fund would cut premium costs 15 to 25 percent.

One provision in HF2061 would freeze the current medical fee schedule until Jan. 1, 1990. Another would eliminate the two-tier system for compensating workers for permanent loss of function or damage to a body part by reinstating the pre-1984 permanent partial disabilities schedule.

The Labor-Management Relations Committee, Feb. 24, recommended HF2061 to pass. The bill comes on the heels of two workers' compensation studies that found the state system's premium rates high and increasing faster than those in the rest of the nation.

Recycling proposals

Local recycling programs would get a boost from the state under a proposal the Environment and Natural Resources Committee recommended to pass Feb. 23. HF2031 would require owners of newly built or remodeled buildings to provide 100 square feet to collect and temporarily store recyclable materials.

"Hennepin County's trying to get a handle on their solid waste problem," says author Rep. Darby Nelson (DFL-Champlin), "but they run into big blocks of buildings, of waste generators, in which there simply is no space." According to Nelson, building owners and tenants say they'd like to participate in a recycling program, but have no space to collect and store such materials.

Nelson says the proposal would allow recycling planners across the state to develop programs calling for large commercial buildings or apartment complexes to participate in recycling programs.

HF2031 would make several changes to the Minnesota Waste Management Act; the proposal for recycling space is only one of those changes.

U of M remodeling

On Feb. 23, University of Minnesota officials came to the Education Division of the Appropriations Committee to ask for $24.4 million in extra operating money. But just before their hearing ended, a barrage of questions faced them.

In the wake of additional newspaper reports about the costs of remodeling U of M President Ken Keller's offices and home, committee members asked Rick Heydinger, a university vice president, about the high price tag, apparently loose procedures, and lack of communication about the renovations.

"These newspaper headlines are obviously troubling," said Rep. Howard Orenstein (DFL-St. Paul). "I'd like to know if these stories are accurate, and if they are, how this happened and where the money came from."

Heydinger told the committee that no state funds went directly into the $198,000 office remodeling. Rather, the university mainly used income from short-term cash investments.

Although Heydinger said the money could perhaps have funded student programs, he said that the remodeling fell under a much-needed, but undocumented plan to spruce up the university.

The Legislative Audit Commission asked for an investigation into the two controversial remodeling projects and a report by March 16. Legislative Auditor Jim Nobles spearheads the audit which will address costs, contract-letting responsibility, approval procedures, project scope, and various financial practices, including procedures on the transfer of money from one account to another.

The University recently hired an accounting firm to conduct its own investigation. "But I think legislators and the public need to have someone working on their behalf in this issue," Nobles said.

Carbon monoxide testing

The death of a Columbia Heights couple in their home last year from carbon monoxide poisoning prompted Rep. Alice Johnson (DFL-Spring Lake Park) to introduce HF1805. The bill would require people who repair or inspect furnaces to safety-test them for carbon monoxide gases.

Carbon monoxide is odorless, tasteless, and colorless. The silent killer results from incomplete combustion of natural gas in a furnace.

Johnson says the carbon monoxide problem is showing up more than ever before because of faulty heating systems and a lack of ventilation in many homes. She recommends that people have their furnaces checked at least twice a year, and that when they weatherize their homes they allow for enough oxygen so the furnace gases burn completely.

HF1805, which the Commerce Committee recommended to pass Feb. 23, would require furnace inspectors or repair persons that don't do the carbon monoxide test, to notify the homeowner in writing that the repair or inspection did not include a safety-test. It would also require them to take steps to eliminate any carbon monoxide gases they find.

Out-of-state taxation

Out-of-state mail order and tele-marketing companies sell to Minnesotans without paying sales or corporate taxes to the state. Collecting revenue from these companies is one of the governor's tax initiatives this year.

Commissioner John James, Department of Revenue, told the Taxes Committee Feb. 23 that collecting those taxes could mean $41 million for the state in fiscal year 1988.

Should the governor's proposal become law, he says, the state would notify out-of-state companies doing business in Minnesota of their tax obligation by registered mail.

According to James, the state could enforce the law through the 1987 changes to income tax laws, the expansion of the sales tax nexus laws (laws that deal with taxes on companies in other states that do business in Minnesota), and the recently established out-of-state auditing offices.

Under the proposal, the Minnesota Department of Revenue could sue those states not complying with payment of corporate and sales taxes.

James says Minnesota may be among a dozen states which have already enacted similar legislation.

Minnesota's refugee program

Minnesota's refugee program will lose over $1 million in federal funding, according to Deputy Commissioner Charles Shultz of the Department of Human Services. Shultz told members of the Health and Human Services Division of the Appropriations Committee Feb. 23 that the federal cuts are retroactive and the state will have to absorb them during this fiscal year.

"Refugees living in Minnesota will continue to receive cash assistance for the first 18 months after their arrival in the U.S.," says Shultz, "but the federal government cut cash extension programs from 31 to 24 months." Most of the cuts are administrative and may affect departments that work solely to help refugees with their cash assistance and medical programs.

Rep. Mary Forsythe (IR-Edina) questioned John Petraborg, assistant commissioner, on the numbers of refugees migrating to the U.S. and Minnesota.

"The problem on the national level is somewhat discouraging. The numbers of refugees released from the camps in Thailand to immigrate to the U.S. last year, was about equal to the birth rate in just one of the camps. So the problem has international scope," said Petraborg.

Both Shultz and Petraborg anticipate more than 2,000 refugees will migrate to Minnesota this year.

The federal cuts in the refugee program are a direct result of the Gramm-Rudman budget resolution Congress passed in December.

Surrogate parenting

Paying a woman to bear a child under a surrogate parent contract would be illegal in Minnesota and contrary to state policy if the Legislature passes a bill that a Judiciary subcommittee recommended to pass Feb. 22.

HF1701 (Rest, DFL-New Hope) would make it illegal for anyone to pay a surrogate mother, or for the surrogate mother to receive money for giving up her child for adoption. The bill would not forbid the practice of surrogacy if it involves no payment. But advertising in Minnesota for a woman to act as a surrogate mother for pay would be illegal.

Rep. Kathleen Vellenga (DFL-St. Paul) favors the bill and says legislators should consider the needs of the child first. "I think the worst start for a child is to have a confused identity," she says. "In adoption, we at least have a child who knows that, for whatever reason, the birth parents decided to terminate rights, and that they did not originally make a choice to conceive that child with the intention of giving it up..."

Vellenga says the difference between adoption and surrogate parenting is a question of finding the best home for the baby, rather than the best baby for the home.

Animal disease control

Custom livestock feeding businesses and farmers may find it difficult and costly to illegally move quarantined animals into and within the state if HF2018 (Dille, IR-Dassel) becomes law.

The Agriculture Committee amended the bill Feb. 22 and recommended it to pass as amended. The bill would broaden existing law, and give the Board of Animal Health and its executive director more power to deal quickly with violations of the law.

Provisions of the bill would:

- allow board representatives to stop vehicles they believe carry diseased or quarantined animals;
- allow board agents access to livestock sites for inspection purposes, and require those agents to give livestock owners receipts for test samples they take, and results of the tests;

- authorize board agents to bring criminal, civil, or injunctive action for the prevention and control of animal diseases; and
- set a penalty at $10,000 per violation rather than $10,000 per day of violation.

Horse racing

A Feb. 18 meeting at Canterbury Downs attracted more than 400 people from Shakopee and surrounding areas. At the meeting, the General Legislation, Veterans Affairs and Gaming Committee heard from farmers, business owners, neighbors, horse owners, and union representatives, all of whom support HF740 (Kostohryz, DFL-North St. Paul). The bill would reduce the parimutuel tax on horse racing businesses.

The community wants the state to lower the tax on horse racing. Not lowering the tax, they said, may force businesses in Shakopee, Blaine, and Little Falls to close. That could cost thousands of jobs.

Rep. Richard Kostohryz, committee chair, stressed that the proposed bill is not a Canterbury Downs bill. "It is a bill that helps all agri-businesses and horse racing in the state," he says.

Kostohryz also says that the horse racing industry should pay the same tax rate as other businesses in the state. Currently, he says, Minnesota taxes horse racing businesses higher than other states and higher than other businesses.

At another meeting on Feb. 22, the committee recommended the bill to pass as amended, then rereferred it to the Taxes Committee.

Ethics Committee

The Minnesota House of Representatives created a Select Committee on Ethics under a resolution the Rules and Legislative Administration Committee adopted Feb. 19. Speaker of the House Robert Vanasek (DFL-New Prague) proposed the measure, and appointed a six-member committee, consisting of three members each from the DFL and IR caucuses. Committee members include Representatives Dee Long (DFL-Mpls), chair, Loren Solberg (DFL-Bovey), Leo Reding (DFL-Austin), Bob Anderson (IR-Ottertail), David Bishop (IR-Rochester), and Sidney Pauly (IR-Eden Prairie).

The resolution directs the select committee to develop guidelines and procedures to deal with any House member's misconduct, and requires the committee to base its recommendations on constitutional and statutory provisions, and House precedent.

According to a House Research analyst, 23 states have established legislative ethics committees. Their sizes, purposes, and responsibilities vary, as well as investigation procedures, and disciplinary authority.

The resolution directs the committee to report its recommendations back to the Rules Committee by March 25.

Committee deadlines

On Feb. 22, the House adopted a series of deadlines to help move bills through the legislative process.

• After Thursday, March 10, the House must refer committee reports on House Files to the Rules and Legislative Administration Committee before the bills can go to the House Floor for action.

• After Friday, March 18, the House must refer committee reports on Senate Files to the Rules and Legislative Administration Committee before the bills can go to the House Floor for action.

These deadlines don't apply to committee reports from the Taxes or Appropriations Committees, or to the education finance bill.

• After Wednesday, March 30, the House can act on only conference committee reports, bills that the Rules and Legislative Administration Committee report (Special Orders), and bills in messages from the Senate or governor.

The deadlines are part of the 1988 Permanent Rules of the House.

A $301 million budget resolution came out of the Ways & Means Committee Feb. 24 and passed the full House Feb. 25 on a 93 to 32 vote. The proposal rejects portions of the governor's budget and allocates more money for education, tax relief, the elderly, highway and transit improvement, and refunds to renters and homeowners. The budget totals $217.4 million for state programs and $83.8 million for tax relief.

Ely, Minnesota will soon be the new home for the phone power unit of the Department of Revenue. "The telephone collections area is a high turnover area. It's a very difficult, high stress job. We're guessing we'll have a stable work force when we're in a labor market where there is much greater demand for jobs," says Armi Armajani, deputy commissioner. Other Revenue Department employees from 12 locations will consolidate into one facility in the Metro area on Nov. 1.

Gas wars, sale volumes, transportation costs, wholesale prices, and state gas tax differentials influence what Minnesotans pay for gas. At a joint meeting of the Transportation and Commerce Committees Feb. 24, legislators questioned industry representatives on fluctuating gas prices. Brian Ettesvold, Minnesota Service Station Association, says, when an aggressive retailer sells gas for a cheaper price, it drives the price down for everyone in the marketplace. A Minnesota State Planning Agency report shows vigorous competition at wholesale and retail levels of the industry. The report states that competitive behavior of refiners drives market behavior at this level.

National Guard re-enlistments are on a down trend, legislators heard Feb. 23 at the State Departments Division of the Appropriations Committee. The guard has a three-fold incentive program to attract and keep people which: restores the $2,000-$3,000 tax exclusion to every member; allots an annual $250 bonus to each member, captain and below in rank; and offers a 50 percent tuition reimbursement to all members.

Other states have bigger hills, taller trees, bluer lakes, and better climates than Minnesota. Given geographic drawbacks, the state needs to compete in today's marketplace on other fronts, say Bill Blazar, Dayton Hudson Co., and Ted Kolderie, University of Minnesota Humphrey Institute of Public Affairs. Speaking to the Economic Development and Housing Committee Feb. 25, they said Minnesota needs to maintain excellence in quality of life (roads, education, and health care), and encourage businesses that export services to national and worldwide population centers.

About 35,000 injured workers qualify for workers' compensation indemnity benefits every year. Of these, half return to work within two weeks; 95 percent within a year. The five percent out of work after a year account for a major share of the system's cost Ray Bohn, commissioner of labor and industry told the Labor-Management Relations Committee Feb. 22. Bohn says Minnesota's workers' compensation premium rates are the fourth highest in the country. He says from 1983 to 1986, the state's total premium cost rose 97 percent in Minnesota, but went up only 54 percent in the rest of the nation.

Future vitality of Minnesota's economy needs cooperation among diverse interests in public and private sectors, says Ed Hunter, Minnesota Wellspring's president. The state should recognize the importance of a balanced investment in research, development, and technology, he says. "If the state wants to build their economic future and create jobs on the great potential that new technology has to offer, it really has to be prepared to invest and to allocate scarce resources to all of these kinds of initiatives," Hunter says. He made his comments at a Feb. 22 meeting of the Future and Technology Committee. Minnesota Wellspring, a non-profit organization, is an alliance of leaders from agriculture, business, education, government, and labor.

Quotes on trends in future and technology: "The national crisis in manufacturing, due primarily to foreign competition, has arrived in Minnesota—even in rural Minnesota," according to the State Manufacturing Task Force for AVTIs. And "while high-tech jobs will be expanding faster than overall employment during the next decade, they will account for only 14 percent of the total U.S. work force by 1995," according to labor economist Richard Belous. Quotes are from the Feb. 1988 special edition of Future Scans, Minnesota State Planning Agency's newsletter.

Do You Know?

The Legislature must pass a law before anything can become an official state symbol. Here is a list of Minnesota symbols with dates of their official adoption.

Seal Minnesota has had four state seals since 1849 when it became a territory. In 1983, the Legislature passed a law describing and approving the design of the present state seal.

Flag Minnesota has had two flags. The 1893 design of the first state flag was official until 1957. That year, the Legislature adopted the second newly designed flag just in time to celebrate Minnesota's 100th birthday.
