Introduction

The 2008 Minnesota Legislature asked the Commissioner of Agriculture to submit a report pursuant to Laws of Minnesota 2008, Chapter 363, Section 3, which states:

By January 15, 2009, the commissioner shall report to the house and senate committees with jurisdiction over agriculture finance a proposal for paying unpaid claimants of an entity no longer producing ethanol on a commercial scale at the location for which it qualified for producer payments.

The unpaid claimants of the former Gopher State Ethanol plant are currently the only entities for which this statutory requirement applies. This report provides background on the Gopher State Ethanol plant and bankruptcy case, as well as potential options for providing support to its unpaid claimants, should the Legislature decide to do so. The Minnesota Department of Agriculture (MDA) and its Commissioner do not advocate for or against the establishment of a plan for paying unpaid claimants of Gopher State, nor any particular approach to developing such a plan.

Background

Ethanol Producer Payments

For over two decades, Minnesota has encouraged the state's ethanol industry through financial incentives to ethanol producers. Specifically, in 1986 the Minnesota Legislature established ethanol producer payments of 20 cents for each gallon produced, with a cap of $3 million per year for any single producer.¹ Payments are made to producers at plants that began production by June 30, 2000, continuing through June of 2010. Producer payments were reduced to 13 cents per gallon for fiscal year 2003 due to a state budget shortfall, with the intent to make deficiency payments to eligible producers in years that ethanol appropriations exceeded regular producer payments.

Gopher State Ethanol

In April of 2000, Gopher State Ethanol began producing ethanol at the historic Jacob Schmidt Brewery's West 7th Street facility near downtown St. Paul. From the outset, the plant was plagued by odor and noise complaints from the surrounding community. Complaints escalated over the next several years, culminating in several lawsuits as well as reviews by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency, and the Minnesota Department of Health.² In 2003, Gopher State began experiencing financial problems and in 2004 ceased plant operations and filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection.

² The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency took enforcement action against Gopher State Ethanol as part of the agencies' campaign concerning emissions from ethanol processors across the country. The enforcement action was settled with the entry of a consent decree in 2001, which was amended in 2003. Gopher State reached settlement with the community lawsuits in 2003, with the obligation to make certain improvements in the facility.

Gopher State Bankruptcy Case

Chapter 11 Bankruptcy Court

Overview

Chapter 11 of the United States Bankruptcy Code permits reorganization under the bankruptcy laws of the United States. Chapter 11 bankruptcy is most commonly used to reorganize a business—whether organized as a corporation, sole proprietorship, or partnership—although it is available to individuals as well. During the Chapter 11 process, the debtor formulates a plan of reorganization and outlines how debts will be paid to creditors. Sometimes, Chapter 11 plans are liquidation plans, meaning that the plan calls for the liquidation of the debtor (much as in Chapter 7 bankruptcy).

Process

A Chapter 11 bankruptcy case begins with the filing of a petition with the appropriate bankruptcy court.³ Upon filing a petition for Chapter 11 bankruptcy, the debtor may assume the identity of “debtor in possession”—meaning the debtor possesses and controls its assets while undergoing the Chapter 11 reorganization—if the court deems the debtor able and it is in the best interests of the debtor and the creditors for the debtor to assume this identity.⁴

A debtor filing for Chapter 11 bankruptcy must also submit a written disclosure statement and a plan of reorganization to the court. The disclosure statement includes information concerning the assets, liabilities, and business affairs of the debtor sufficient to enable a creditor to make an informed judgment about the debtor’s plan of reorganization. The plan of reorganization contains a classification of claims and a description of how each class of claims will be treated under the plan. In general, secured creditors (those who have a security interest, or collateral, in the debtor's property) are paid before unsecured creditors. Unsecured creditors' claims are prioritized within the Bankruptcy Code;⁵ each priority level must be paid in full before the next lowest priority level may receive payment.

Once the court has considered and approved the disclosure statement, creditors must vote to approve the proposed plan of reorganization by ballot. The ballots are then collected and tallied, and the court conducts a confirmation hearing to determine whether to confirm the plan.⁶ The confirmation of the plan discharges the debtor of all their debt. The court closes the bankruptcy case by entering a final decree when substantial progress has been made in the Chapter 11 plan.

Gopher State Chapter 11 Bankruptcy Case

Gopher State Ethanol filed a petition for Chapter 11 bankruptcy on August 11, 2004, with the United States Bankruptcy Court in the District of Minnesota. In 2005, Gopher State submitted a disclosure statement and a plan of reorganization to the court. The plan of reorganization consisted of several key elements:

³ A petition may be voluntary (filed by the debtor) or involuntary (filed by creditors meeting certain requirements).

⁴ A debtor remains in possession until the debtor’s plan of reorganization is confirmed, the debtor’s case is dismissed or converted to Chapter 7, or a Chapter 11 trustee is appointed.

⁵ 11 USC §507.

⁶ A plan of reorganization can be approved if each class of creditors votes to accept the plan. A class accepts the plan if two-thirds in amount and more than one-half in number of the allowed claims of the class vote to accept. If not all classes of creditors vote to accept the plan, the court can approve the plan only if the debtor can show that the plan does not discriminate unfairly and is fair and equitable with respect to each class voting to reject.

- 1) the sale of Gopher State’s assets;
- 2) the merging of Gopher State Ethanol with Granite Falls Energy, LLC, into a reorganized entity;
- 3) the lease of the Granite Falls ethanol plant to the reorganized entity;
- 4) the collection of future producer payments for the benefit of Granite Falls and Gopher State’s remaining unsecured creditors;
- 5) the payment of unsecured claims against Gopher State from a share of those future payments; and,
- 6) continuation of ethanol production by the reorganized entity at the Granite Falls facility.

The plan of reorganization acknowledged that there could be no assurance that the Granite Falls facility would be eligible for producer payments, pursuant to Minnesota Statutes, as Gopher State had been. In addition, it stated that any producer payments made to creditors of Granite Falls would not have gone to Gopher State creditors, and assigned the eligibility for deficiency payments to the two secured creditors of Gopher State.

The plan of reorganization also established four classes of claims, in order of priority: Class 1 (“priority non-tax claims”); Class 2 (“secured claims”); Class 3 (“general unsecured claims”); and, Class 4 (“membership interests”). At the time of the Bankruptcy Court filing, Class 1 and Class 4 claims were estimated to be $0, while Class 2 claims were estimated at $11.5 million and Class 3 claims at $15.7 million. Future producer payments, anticipated to total $13.5 million through 2010, were to be divided equally among Class 1 and Class 3 claims.⁷

Gopher State’s plan of reorganization was approved by the court in November of 2005, and a final decree closing the Chapter 11 bankruptcy case was issued on June 21, 2006. Ultimately, all of the entity’s assets were liquidated.

Unpaid Claimants of Gopher State

Appendix A lists the actual claims filed against Gopher State, as entered into the District of Minnesota Claims Register. Over $38 million in claims—$62,800 Class 1 priority claims, $26.2 million Class 2 secured claims, and $12.4 million Class 3 unsecured claims—were ultimately filed against Gopher State. However, these claims simply represent claims that were filed—the accuracy of their amounts and classifications have never been validated.

As discussed previously, Gopher State’s plan of reorganization stated that future producer payments were to be divided equally among Class 1 and Class 3 claims. The 2005 Minnesota Legislature amended the ethanol producer payment statute to clarify that eligibility for producer payments was dependent on the facility, as opposed to the producer, having begun production by 2000.^{8,9} The facility at Granite Falls did not commence production until long after the required period. Prior to confirmation of the plan, the Granite Falls entity opted not to continue to produce ethanol. As such, future producer

⁷ The first $300,000 in producer payments was to be paid to Class 3 claimants with no Class 2 secured claims, and the next $300,000 was to be paid to Class 3 claimants that also held some Class 2 secured claims. Thereafter, Class 1 claimants were to receive their 50 percent share of the producer payments first, followed by Class 3 claimants.

⁸ Laws of Minnesota 2005, Spec. Sess., ch. 1, art. 1, sec. 70.

⁹ This amendment occurred before creditors voted for acceptance or rejection of the plan or reorganization, and prior to approval of that plan. A Modified Plan of Reorganization was filed June 22, 2005. The Modified Plan stated that there was no assurance of future payments and referred to pending legislation. Creditors had until July 15, 2005 to vote for acceptance or rejection of the plan. The Plan was finally approved November 9, 2005. All classes voted to accept the plan. The vote by Class 3 claims was 93.1 percent of those voting; these creditors held 99.9 percent of the debt amount. The legislation was passed June 30, 2005.

payments were not available for paying unsecured claims against Gopher State as initially contemplated by the plan of reorganization.

Based on this information, as well as various documents and conversations with attorneys for the bankruptcy case, MDA believes it reasonable to conclude that creditors holding Class 3 unsecured claims did not and will not recover any claims. However, the exact nature of each creditor's status remains somewhat uncertain and would require significant additional staff time to determine with absolute certainty. MDA does not believe it is the role of the Department to determine the validity of claims made by creditors of Gopher State.

Options and Recommendations

As shown in Appendix A, approximately $12.4 million in unsecured claims were filed against Gopher State. However, as discussed, the total amount of outstanding claims could total more than $38 million, depending on the current status and validity of each claim. Any effort on the part of the Legislature to establish a plan for paying unpaid claimants of Gopher State could be regarded by secured creditors as a reordering of the Bankruptcy Court ruling, potentially setting a precedent for the State's role in future bankruptcy cases and inviting further litigation. At the same time, the State frequently engages in public policy decisions that aid struggling entities or industries, particularly when it is in the interest of the State to do so. Indeed, Minnesota has long supported its ethanol industry through state funding for ethanol production. The Minnesota Department of Agriculture and its Commissioner do not advocate for or against the establishment of a plan for paying unpaid claimants of Gopher State, nor any particular approach to developing such a plan. Should the Legislature decide to provide support to unpaid claimants of Gopher State, however, the following options for appropriating and distributing such funding could be considered.

Appropriation of Funds

Option 1a: Use the general fund to provide a one-time appropriation, or a yearly appropriation over several years.

Under Option 1a, the Legislature could appropriate funding from the general fund to pay unpaid claimants of Gopher State. Assuming that outstanding claims are limited to unsecured claims, totaling approximately $12.4 million, this appropriation could be a one-time lump sum, or a multi-year appropriation of, for example, $2.5 million over 5 years, or $1.25 million over 10 years. As noted previously, however, the total amount of unpaid claims could be as high as $38 million.

Although the Legislature has appropriated funding from the general fund to promote and support Minnesota's ethanol industry for many years, using general funds to pay unpaid claimants of Gopher State would not encourage new ethanol production, as is the spirit behind ethanol producer payment program. However, if paying unpaid claimants has the effect of keeping more crop producers in business, greater crop supply could lead to lower crop prices and more profitable ethanol production.

Option 2a: Establish a tax charged on ethanol sales.

Under Option 2a, the State could collect a tax on ethanol sales to be deposited in the State's general fund for purposes of paying Gopher State's unpaid claimants. The state currently sells approximately 260 million gallons of ethanol per year. Charging a 4.8 cent tax on each gallon sold for one year could allow the state to collect approximately $12.5 million for paying unpaid claimants of Gopher State. The state could also collect a 2 to 2.5 cent tax on each gallon over two or three years to achieve the same result. However, taxing ethanol sales could increase the price of ethanol at the retail level, potentially discouraging ethanol consumption.

Option 3a: Discontinue deficiency payments for one year.

If the Legislature discontinued deficiency payments for one year, as suggested by Option 3a, approximately $10 million could be retained in the general fund and allocated to unpaid claimants of Gopher State. The Legislature could consider discontinuing deficiency payments in fiscal year 2011, after the final producer payments are made to currently eligible ethanol plants.

Distribution of Funds

Option 1b: Establish a “Gopher State Debtor Assistance Program,” administered by MDA.

Under this option, the Legislature could charge MDA with coordinating a program to distribute funds to selected unpaid claimants of Gopher State. MDA could develop criteria for evaluating unpaid claimants, solicit applications from claimants, and select those claimants that met the established criteria. Potential criteria could include: 1) the amount owed to the creditor; 2) the number of years that the creditor has sustained the debt; 3) the current financial stability of the creditor; 4) the creditor’s role or purpose in Gopher State; etc. MDA could work with the Legislature to determine whether to select a small number of creditors to pay in full, or a larger number of creditors to partially reimburse.

Option 2b: Focus payments on agricultural-related claimants.

Because of the State’s longstanding commitment to agriculture and agriculture-related energy production, payments for unpaid claimants of Gopher State could be directed towards claims from agricultural entities. The program could be modeled after Option 1b, whereby MDA could establish and administer a program for selecting those entities that best fit the purpose of this option.
