2010 BUSINESS ASSISTANCE REPORT

Introduction

The business subsidy law, Minnesota Statutes §116J.993 through §116J.995, provides a mechanism for taxpayers to learn about state and local funds used for business subsidies and financial assistance. The law applies to state and local government agencies with the authority to provide business subsidies including Job Opportunity Building Zone (JOBZ) and financial assistance. Grantors are required to submit a Minnesota Business Assistance Form (MBAF) to the Department of Employment and Economic Development (DEED) for each agreement signed since July 1, 1995 for two years after the benefit date or until all goals are met, whichever is later.

Under the law, local government agencies in communities with a population of more than 2,500 and state agencies with authority to grant subsidies must submit a report to DEED, regardless of whether they have awarded business subsidies. Local government agencies in communities with a population of 2,500 or less are exempt from filing the MBAF unless they have awarded a subsidy in the past five years. DEED is required to complete a report that summarizes submitted MBAFs every even-numbered year.

Data Collection

Reports can be filed to DEED by mailing a hard copy or using the online application launched in 2004. Because reporting requirements changed in 1999, for business assistance agreements entered into by agencies during the period of July 1, 1995 through July 31, 1999, agencies use the 1999 MBAF to fulfill reporting requirements. For agreements entered between August 1, 1999 and December 31, 2009, agencies use the standard MBAF form. A separate Minnesota Financial Assistance Form (MFAF) is now required for financial assistance of $25,000 and greater that is excluded from the definition of “business subsidy” by Minnesota Statutes §116J.993, subdivision 3, clause (1), and of business loans and loan guarantees from $75,000 and $150,000 for agreements signed on or after January 1, 2008. For agreements prior to that period agencies use the standard MBAF form.

Because a separate JOBZ MBAF reporting form was developed to address recommendations in the 2008 JOBZ Program Evaluation Report from the Office of the Legislative Auditor, an online application was not available. Forms submitted by local government agencies are still being analyzed to address compliance issues including amendments to JOBZ business assistance agreements and/or removals from the program. A report summarizing JOBZ MBAFs will be available in early 2011.

Forms summarized in the report cover non-JOBZ business assistance agreements reached between July 1, 1995 and December 31, 2009 and financial assistance agreements reached between July 1, 1995 and December 31, 2009 that were submitted to DEED by June 1, 2010. These forms and forms submitted by government agencies after June 1, 2010 are available on DEED’s website.

Overview

Because the statute requires DEED to track each individual project awarded, grantors are required to submit information annually for each project for two years or until the project achieves its goals, whichever is later. Grantors (local and state government agencies) are responsible for reporting and updating their business and financial assistance projects as required by the business subsidy law. DEED also sends reminder postcards annually to grantors to report on eligible business and financial assistance and previously reported assistance until all goals and obligations are met.<sup>1</sup>

This report summarizes business subsidy agreements signed in 2009; agreements signed in previous years are updated and summarized in Appendices (B-M).

Business assistance activity has varied significantly from year to year as reported by state and local government agencies. Non-JOBZ activity peaked in 2000 with 204 agreements, falling to 14 agreements in 2010.

Overview of Non-JOBZ Findings

The activity levels and total value of non-JOBZ business assistance have varied significantly from year to year as reported by state and local government agencies. There were 14 non-JOBZ business assistance agreements reported by government agencies in 2010 for 2009 activity, compared to 204 agreements for 2000 activity. The total value of business assistance agreements has also varied significantly from year to year, from a total value of $612.6 million for 2000 activity to $12.8 million for 2008 activity (see Table 1).

Totals	1,436	$1,200.6

<sup>1</sup> For grantors that have not yet met all their obligations stipulated in their business and financial assistance agreements, there are several reasons why this may occur. First, the grantor may have more time to meet their goals and obligations stipulated in their assistance agreement. Recipients or businesses have two years from the benefit date to meet specific wage and job goals and in some cases local government agencies may have a five year requirement to remain on the premises where the subsidy is provided. Also in the case of TIF or tax abatement, like JOBZ projects, recipients are required to report for the duration of the TIF or tax abatement which may be as long as 10 to 12 years from the benefit date. Second, some projects may not have been updated for several years due to staffing changes at local government agencies. Reporting on these projects may be delayed even after receiving a notice from DEED.

2009 Non-JOBZ Activity

Of the 638 state and local government agencies that were required to file in 2010 either because of population size or previous business subsidy activity or current activity in 2009, 285 agencies submitted a MBAF and 353 agencies did not submit a form (see Appendix A).

Of the 285 agencies that submitted a form, 12 agencies reported on 14 eligible business assistance agreements that were reached between January 1, 2009 and December 31, 2009. The $22.5 million of business assistance provided by those 14 agreements ranged from a $92,000 grant subsidy to a $16.5 million loan agreement.

Goals and Actual Performance

Grantors are required to identify the types of goals that recipients receiving business assistance were expected to achieve. Grantors are also required to indicate the progress toward these goals.

Under the law, if the assistance agreement includes specific wage and job goals then those goals must be attained within two years of the benefit date. Assistance agreements can also include other goals. Of the 14 eligible business assistance agreements entered into by agencies between January 1, 2009 and December 31, 2009, 12 agreements (85.7%) established specific job and wage goals.

Of the 12 business assistance agreements that were reported by agencies that established specific wage goals, four agreements (33.3%) have attained specific job and wage goals; and eight agreements (66.7%) reported that the recipient had not attained specific job and wage goals. All agencies reported that recipients had more time to meet their goals.

There were five business assistance agreements that were reported by agencies that established other job creation and or retention goals. Of the five agreements reported by agencies that established other job creation and or retention goals, no recipient attained their goals. All agencies reported that recipients had more time to meet their goals.

There was one business assistance agreement reported by an agency that established other wage goals. The agency reported that the recipient had more time to meet their goals.

There was one business assistance agreement reported by an agency that established goals other than wage and job goals. The agency reported that the recipient had more time to meet their goals.

The total value of business assistance provided was $22.5 million.

The one financial assistance agreement reported to DEED indicated, that the recipient had not achieved all goals and obligations stipulated in the agreement. The total value outstanding is $1.5 million (see Appendix B).

There were also eight eligible financial assistance projects where the assistance was at or less than $150,000 reported by government agencies in 2010 for 2009 activity. Of the eight financial assistance projects reached by government agencies between January 1, 2009 and December 31, 2009, agencies reported that four recipients (50.0%) had achieved all stated goals compared to four recipients that have yet to meet all of their obligations. The total value of the four projects was $0.39 million (51.0%) compared to $0.38 million (49.0%) outstanding. The total value of public financial assistance provided was $0.78 million. The total project budget for those eight projects was $7.6 million of which $0.78 million (10.2%) was provided by the public (see Appendix B).
